Bio information

Holding a Bachelor Degree in Education from the University of Tanzania, Teddy is a respected child-care and primary school teacher with more than 35 years of experience in the field. After the 1994 genocide, Teddy returned home to Rwanda and started the City Infant School where it has been operating for 16 years.

Teddy recognized the need for quality education due to low standards and bureaucratic processes at the government schools. Pulling together her meager savings, Teddy opened City Infant School with the goal to insure that kids have the basic education needed to achieve their life goals and become good citizens. Using her contacts in the region to hire experienced teachers, Teddy insures that even orphans have access to quality education.
