

NAME: Sabrina Porter

TITLE: Vice President of Resident and Community Relations

BUSINESS: Presbyterian Communities and Services

STUDENT: Teddy Gacinya

Sabrina's passion for the elderly is evident throughout her entire professional career. At the age of 13, she worked full-time as a certified nurse's aide while attending high school. When upper management noticed her compassion for the elderly, they sent her for certification as a medication aide and added ward clerk to her duties. Sabrina became the youngest Texas nursing home administrator when she became a licensed nursing facility administrator (LNFA). She moved from operating an 80-bed nursing home to a 300-bed skilled, acute nursing home. Three years later, Sabrina was promoted to regional director and for the next 10 years she supervised the administrators of 11 to 26 nursing facilities. Her success again garnered her promotion to chief operating officer with regional responsibilities for nursing homes in the South, West, East and North Texas.

In 1993, Sabrina met the "love of her life" and traded her career for a family. But in 1999, she returned to work as the executive director of Grace Presbyterian Village (GPV). Vowing to raise their family, her husband Joel retired to be with their three children. As the parent company, Presbyterian Communities and Services (PC&S) evolved and so did Sabrina's position. In 2008, while still the executive director of GPV, she was promoted to her current position of Vice President of Resident and Community Relations at PC&S.

She is a member of Cedar Hill Church of Christ, volunteers as a church mission liaison, is a lay minister instructor, and supports Advocacy Ministry Care. In the future, she aspires to attain her MBA.
